WASHINGTON, June 18.—Senator
Bob LaFollette for many years
army pet of American politics here today. Death resulted at pan. from heart failure, induced by a general breakdown and an attack of bronchial asthma.

Senator Oscar W. Underwood is still undetermined upon making the race for re-election to the United States Senate according to his address
today made before the Morgan Kiwanis club. Senator Underwood clau-sured the phases of the Senate election fight rather than his candidacy.

Mr. Underwood's hearers were unable to understand whether he intended making the race for the Senate or
not. In the opening lines of his talk, possibly unintentionally, Mr. Underwood declared that he would be a candidate for re-election. He referred,
however several times later on in his talk to the possibility of his entrance
into the senate race.

Following his introduction to the club members and guests Senator Underwood launched into a forceful argument favoring an alteration in Senate rules.

PROGRESS IS MADE IN MALARIA FIGHT

ountree Is Able Now
To Dispense With Assistant

Progress is being made in the campaign to eliminate the mosquito in Morgan County, Dr. H. C. McRee, Morgan County health officer, announced today.

Walter Rountree, who is conducting the campaign for the health department, has been able to dispense with an assistant, in view of the fact that the weather recently has been dry and the number of mosquito breeding places were limited.

"If today's rain is a forerunner of wet weather," Dr. McRee said today, "it will be necessary to re-employ an assistant to Mr. Rountree. The weather so far has favored us, but we have no way of knowing how long the partiality will be shown. We expect, however, to continue the fight as long as our money lasts."

Piggly-Wiggly Is Closed Here Today

Piggly-Wiggly stores in Albany-Decatur are closed today on account of the death of Miss Sarah Harris, daughter of J. O. Harris who is president of the Harris-Jones Grocery company. Miss Harris died at her home in Tusculum, Ala., following an infection that resulted in blood poisoning.

PLACED IN JAIL

Oscar Skull has been placed in the Morgan County jail on a charge of robbery, following his arrest near Birmingham at the instance of Morgan County officers.

CHILD DIES

Funeral services will be conducted

AMUNDSEN AND PARTY NOW SAFE

UNDERWOOD STILL UNDETERMINED ON RACE FOR SENATE

Senator Is Considering
Matter He Indicates
In Address Here

CLOTURE NO HARM
TO SOUTH, HE SAYS

Believes In Principle of
The Majority Rule,
He Declares

Senator Oscar W. Underwood is still undetermined upon making the race for re-election to the United States Senate according to his address
today made before the Morgan Kiwanis club. Senator Underwood clau-
sured the phases of the Senate election fight rather than his candidacy.

Mr. Underwood's hearers were unable to understand whether he intended making the race for the Senate or
not. In the opening lines of his talk,
possibly unintentionally, Mr. Underwood declared that he would be a candidate for re-election. He referred,
however several times later on in his
talk to the possibility of his entrance
into the senate race.

Following his introduction to the
club members and guests Senator Underwood launched into a forceful argument favoring an alteration in Senate rules.

The speaker first explained that he was not moving from Alabama, as it has been thought by some, but that he has purchased a summer home on the southside of the Potomac. He said that Alabama had conferred her highest honors upon him and that he intended to remain here always.

Entering upon the principal phase of his talk Senator Underwood declared a disbelief in Senate cloture as undermining white civilization in the south or in Alabama. "If I thought so," he continued, "I would not recommend it."

"The reason I favor majority rule and not minority rule is because the constitution of the United States provides for majority rule. If it had not been for minority rule we would have had a settlement of the Muscle Shoals question long before now," the speaker said.

"We do not have to have long speeches for effective legislation. The most effective documents in the world's history have been amazingly short. The Lord's prayer contains only 86 words, the most beautiful poem in the world, the 23 Psalm has but 188 words. Lincoln's Gettysburg address has only 250 words. It does not require a great deal of language to register an intellectual result," argued the Alabama senator.

In speaking of the accusation of inconsistency on his part Senator Underwood admitted that he had been inconsistent. He said that he had led a Senate filibuster when the Antilynching bill was before the senate he declared that he held up the Senate for five days on unimportant points, but he declared he was only playing the game as he thought best at that time.

Senator Underwood closed his interesting talk in a plea for the Southland to forget the prejudices of years past and throw wide the doors that the nation's capital might come in and aid in the development of the natural resource of the country.

The Alabama Senator will leave Friday for his Birmingham home after having been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Crawford. While on the northern Alabama trip the Senator has visited several northern Alaban-cians.

WATER SUPPLY OF
TWIN CITIES GOOD,
TESTS HERE SHOW

Examinations are Made
By Tennessee Valley
Laboratory

MILK TESTS HELP
KEEP UNIT BUSY

Month of June One of
Most Active Periods
Since Established

The water supply of Albany and Decatur probably is as good as any furnished any community in the entire south. This encouraging report came today from the Tennessee Valley laboratory, which has been engaged this month in making examinations of the water supplies of a number of North Alabama cities.

In addition to the water supply of Albany and Decatur, examined in June by the laboratory, examinations also were made of the water supplied residents of Florence, Sheffield, Tuscumbia, Scottsboro, Stevenson, Huntsville and Bridgeport.

"We are not ready yet to make our formal report on all of the water supplies," said Dr. A. J. Perolio, laboratory director, "but I can say to the people of the Twin Cities that the water supplied here now is of the very best from a public health standpoint.
Examinations show it is entirely safe."

The month of June has been an exceptionally busy one for the laboratory staff. In addition to the immense amount of routine examinations, the tests of the water supplies has occupied much of the time of the staff, together with examinations of the milk supply of those communities in which milk ordinances have been adopted.

The milk supply of Florence continues to be very good, Florence having adopted a milk ordinance some time ago. Examinations of milk sold in Sheffield and Tusculum now are being made, together with tests of the milk sold in Albany and Decatur and Huntsville. The Huntsville milk supply also was said to be good.

Ordinances have not yet been adopted in Athens, although a health unit is operating.

3-pound Turnips
Early County Yield

As another indication that the crops of the county and the valley are in good condition B. Gillintine, farmer brought to the Daily office Wednesday two three pound turnips that have been raised by Claude Shelton on the Gillintine place. Mr. Gillintine said that the turnips had been sown with cotton, the rows alternating. The farm products were firm and a credit to the usual quality of Morgan county products.

B. A. Turner Is Sued
For $20,000 Damages

B. A. Turner and not the Turner Coal & Grain company is the defendant in the $20,000 damage suit entered in the circuit court by Mrs. Rosa Miller, administratrix of the estate of R. C. Miller deceased.

Mr. Turner declared Wednesday that the suit had no connection whatsoever with the Turner Coal and Grain company and that the case had been entered against him personally.

Mr. Turner said that he wished to correct an impression that the company was in any way wlll-acted in the suit.

Widow Fights

MRS. M. B. MAYER

Mrs. Margaret B. Mayer, widow of the late Dr. John B. Mayer, prominent physician and contractor, will fight in court for one-third of her husband's $1,500,000 estate. She turned down a compromise offer of $200,000.

BRITISH CONSUL IS FORCED TO MOVE

Situation Is Growing
More Serious
Every Hour

(Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, June 18.—Shipping strike became more serious today when coolies and lightermen struck at the Pootung wharf. It was feared that launches and tugs working in connection with ocean going steamers would soon be effected.

Ninety former Chinese policemen joined in a demonstration in the streets and broke shop windows of the city.

Late yesterday afternoon strikers set fire to a Japanese owned mill, but police extinguished the flames before any damage was done. The procession lead by former police was finally subdued when Manchurian troops were lead out. The troops of the Manchurian war lord recently arrived in Shanghai from Nanking.

Activities of extremists were increased.

Negotiations here between representatives of foreign diplomats and Peking and Chinese delegates seeking reparations for recent disturbances were broken off today owing to a divergence of opinions.

A wireless from Tun-King says that the situation is critical. The British consul was forced to leave his consulate, British nationals have been stoned and assaulted in the streets.

FLORETTE WILL BE VISITED ON JUNE 26
BY MORGAN KIWANIS

Last of the Series of Meetings Being Arranged

GREAT GATHERING
FOR AUGUST SET

Farmers of County To Be Guests of Club
Late In Summer

The Morgan Kiwanis club will conclude its series of visitations to neighboring communities, as part of its promotion campaign for more cordial relations with farmers of the county, on June 26, when the club will go to Florette, W. W. Rahm, chairman of the farm relations committee announced Thursday.

The program for the Florette meeting is being arranged, but has not been concluded, Mr. Rahm stated.

The year's program of the committee will be brought to a close in August when residents of all of the communities visited by the club this year will be guests of the Kiwanians at a banquet, to be given here.

Kiwanians believe the August meeting will be one of the largest attended gatherings of its kind ever held in the northern section of the state and plans already are being formulated for the affair.

The purpose of the meetings has been to cement the friendship of the rural communities and the larger communities and to stimulate a greater degree of co-operation between all communities of the county.

MULE SPEEDY AND
MAN MAKES ESCAPE

Officers Foiled In An Attempt To Arrest
Defendant

Morgan County officers this week encountered a fast stepping mule, as a result of which they failed in an effort to arrest Broncho Livingston, near Eva, wanted on a statutory charge.

The officers went to the field where the man was believed to be working, but reported that a little girl on the place saw them and shouted "Run Broncho." Broncho then was said to have jumped on the back of a speedy mule and escaped.

Oscar Billings, also wanted on a similar charge, has been placed in the Morgan County jail, following his arrest near Valhermosa.

NEW YORK, June 17.—The North

nounced today that Roald Amundsen, the explorer, has returned to Spitzbergen from his north pole flight.

Lincoln Ellsworth, co-leader of the

MANSLAUGHTER IS
PERKINS VERDICT

Girl Awaits the Court Decision In a New York Jail

(Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 18.—Convicted of manslaughter by a jury of "fathers," Dorothy Perkins, 17 year old bobbied blonde who worked for a newspaper as an advertising clerk, was in jail today awaiting sentence.

At a convivial valentine party at her Greenwich Village home, Dorothy Perkins shot Thomas Templeton, young bachelor national guardsman whom she had refused to marry. It was the states contention that she was trying to shoot her father who objected to her relations with Micky Conner, 40 year old suitor who is now in jail for wife beating.

When the jury returned its verdict after two hours deliberation during which time some argued for first degree murder the defendant fainted.
She was lead from the courtroom calling for her mother.

The jury refused to recommend mercy. Sentence will be impos-Monday. The maximum penalty for manslaughter for which she was convicted is 10 to 20 years. The minimum penalty is left to the discretion of the court.

In her testimony the girl denied firing the pistol. She said it was fired accidentally when she and her father were wrestling over the gun.

She said that she loved Templeton but admitted having had intimate relations with Connor.

"She was too glib, she is too modern," said the prosecution in arguing the case with the jury. Defense council lead the case before the jury as "a product of the tenement and the daughter of a drunkard, doomed to live a life of misery."

The defendant admitted having had four glasses of gin at the party.

Child Is Bitten
On Lip By a Dog

Bettie McMillan, two year old negro child, was bitten on the lip by a dog, which examination showed to be suffering from rabies according to a report made today to the Tennessee Valley laboratory by Dr. W. T.
Burkett, health officer of Colbert County, who sent the head of the can-nine here for examination.

JUDGE HORTON TO COME HERE TODAY
FOR CONFERENCES

Solicitor Almon Calls
Jurist Over Phone
About the Cases

DATES TO BE SET
LATE THURSDAY

The Grand Jury Will Be Called Into Session
Early In July

The grand jury was called late today for July 6 and trial of the cases probably will start on July 20.

A special term of the circuit court probably will be called for July to try the three capital cases in Morgan County.

Solicitor D. C. Almon today was in telephone communication with Judge James E. Horton, of Athens, and at Mr. Almon's request Judge Horton will come here this afternoon to consider the plans for the special term and probably to fix a date.

It will be necessary to call the grand jury into session first. The jury will be charged with the task of investigating the slaying of Zachariah Kornis by his father-in-law, N. W.
George; the slaying of Robert Howell of Hartselle, by A. L. (Shorty) Davis and the slaying of Joe Eaton, negro, by Julius Dailey, negro.

Ten days or two weeks is expected to elapse between the date, set for the convening of the grand jury and the date set for the convening of the trial court, following whatever indictments are returned by the grand jury.

An unusual feature of the triple killings in Morgan County it was pointed out today, that in each case the man accused of having fired the fatal shots is either under bond or in custody of the officers. George is under $1,000 bond, agreed upon by the jury following the Lafayette street tragedy; Dailey is held in the Morgan County jail and Davis is held for safekeeping in the Jefferson County jail in Birmingham.

POLITE BANDIT NOW
AWAITS SENTENCE

Woman Testifies That
She Was Told Bank
Was Closing

(Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, June 18.—Three men one an armed convict, today were awaiting sentence after being found guilty last night of participation in two robberies, both committed here the same day last January 31.

Politeness and curiosity were assigned by the police as the principal reasons for the conviction of Ravel Montemer, who, officers say, will be returned to a California penitentiary to finish an unexpired term there, when he completes the sentence to be imposed upon him for robbery of the branch of a bank here.

A woman testified that Montemer met her at the door of the bank the day of the holdup and politely told her the bank was just closing for the day. It developed in subsequent testimony that while Montemer was turning away late patrons of the institution, the bank's cashier and another employee were lying helpless bound with piano wire, behind one of the cases, while a companion of Montemer was guarding them.

Montemer was arrested two months later when he was caught in connection with another attempt to hold up the same bank. Peter Albano, 27, and William Barker, 26, were found guilty of robbery in which $4,500 in payroll funds were taken in a thrilling daylight hold up.

12 Years Ago From The Daily of TODAY
June 18, 1913

Rev. G. L. Yates, former pastor of the Central Baptist church, and now pastor of the First Baptist church of Tyler, Texas, is the guest here of W. P. Carter, and family.

Plans are being formulated by J. L. Echols and Horton and Hodge for erection of an additional story to the Echols hotel.

A young boy, standing in front of the tent show this morning, threw a rock into a street car, according to reports.

Rev. S. E. Hodges, of Anniston, is conducting a special series of meetings at the First Presbyterian church, Decatur.

Miss Marion Grubbs, enroute from Birmingham to Nashville, will be the guest of Mrs. Foster H. Pointer.

Did you ever stop to consider that in winning the prize at the Southern Exposition in New York, Alabama won out over the best exhibits that well organized realty men from other states could gather. Alabama won on merit alone. Alabama has the goods.

Thomas Marshall once remarked, "what this country needs is a good five-cent cigar," meaning the country needed to get back to fundamentals and drop some of the false finery with which we had been adorned by the war period. An admirer of Mr. Marshall stated the other day, that what this country needs is "a few more Tom Marshalls" and he's right.

WOMEN OF CHURCHES CREDITED WITH DECREASING NUMBER OF LYNCHINGS

The Federal Council of Churches goes to considerable trouble to collect information regarding the progress of certain movements undertaken by the Council for the welfare and spiritual well-being of America. Recently a report was issued by Dr. George E. Haynes, secretary of the Race Relations commission, emphasizing the decrease in the number of lynchings during the year.

Lynchings were prevented in 45 communities, the report states, adding that prevention played a big part in keeping lynchings to a minimum of 16; the lowest number in any year since records of these instances have been kept.

"In 1914 there were 52 persons reported lynched and 17 reported preventions of lynching," says the report. "That is, there were more than three times as many lynchings as there were instances of lynching being prevented."

"In 1924, ten years later, the opposite is true. There were reported 45 instances of the prevention of lynching and 16 reported cases of lynching." This means that in 1914 there were 68 attempts at lynching, 52 of which were successful, and that in 1924 there were 61 attempts at lynching, 45 of which were prevented by the foresight, energy and courage of public officials.

Public officials who, sometimes at the risk of their own lives, prevent the taking of the law into their own hands by a mob, were praised by the report, but it is interesting to note that, after all, it is the women of the churches who are given credit by Dr. Haynes for the improvement in conditions.

NINE LESSONS IN LIVING ARE GIVEN BY WRITER

Built largely on the theory that "laugh and the world laughs with you, weep and weep alone," a writer, whose name has been lost in the shuffle, has prepared a course on "how to live" in nine lessons.

It may not be the part of wisdom to think of rules of conduct being "canned" and served up in any such manner, but there is a pronounced tendency these days to give those of us who will buy intensive lessons, supposedly guaranteed to make musicians of us, public speakers, opera singers, crack salesmen or champion prize fighters or baseball players. The nine lessons in living have the advantage of really being something worthwhile—and free.

The lessons are:
"Learn to laugh. A good laugh is better than medicine."
"Learn to attend strictly to your business."
"Learn to tell a story. A well-told story is as welcome as a sunbeam in a sickroom."
"Learn the art of saying kind and encouraging things."
"Learn to avoid all ill-natured remarks and everything calculated to create friction."
"Learn to keep your troubles to yourself. The world is too busy to care for your ills and sorrows."
"Learn to stop grumbling. If you can not see any good in the world keep the bad to yourself."
"Learn to hide your aches and pains under a pleasant smile. No one cares whether you have the ear-ache, headache or rheumatism."
"Learn to greet your friends with a smile. They carry too many frowns in their own hearts to be bothered with any of yours.

"Think these over: 'Consider the whale, he gets into trouble when he starts to blow.' 'Did you ever notice the quietest thing about a busy man is his tongue?' 'Success is not made by lying awake at night, but by keeping awake in the daytime.' 'Yesterday is an out-layed account. Tomorrow is a risky promissory note. Today is real money; invest it.'"

COLUMBIANA SETS EXAMPLE IN UNITED EFFORT FOR THE TOWN

A fine example of co-operative effort in behalf of town improvement is being shown at Columbiana where city officials, Exchange club members and citizens generally united in doing needed street work. The Shelby County Reporter tells of the public-spirited work of the Columbiana Exchange club and the citizens of the town as follows:

A fine example of community effort that gets results is found in the work of improving the streets that is being carried on in Columbiana. It is also a fund for street improvement was started. In this, ganization as the Exchange club can render its best service. Some weeks ago at a meeting of the club, a fund for street improvement was started. In this, however, they were preceded by a group of citizens who co-operating with Mayor Leonard were at work cherting the street leading to the Southern depot. Other citizens joined the Exchange club with their contributions and now the depot street has been completed and good progress is being made on College street. There is enough money pledged, it is said, to chert every street in town.

Such a spirit as has been shown by the Columbiana Exchange club, the mayor and the citizens generally is just what every town, large and small needs. In Columbiana the principal streets of the town needed improving. Instead of indulging in a controversy over the work and who should do it, the Exchange club members started the raising of a fund to do the work. The mayor personally went to work and the citizens of the towns joined heartily in the movement, with the result that Columbiana's streets that needed improving have been improved.

United and wholesome action for public improvements in a town show the people of the town to be public-spirited and loyal to town interests. Too many men are inclined to shift the whole responsibility to the town authorities and assume none of it personally. This is what often keeps small towns small. But in Columbiana it is different. There the people unite in behalf of the town, they do not quarrel over who shall do the work and do not hold back because some needed improvement may benefit one part of the town more than another. They unite for the general good of the whole town. The Columbiana spirit is the kind that wins. More towns in Alabama need some of the same kind of spirit.—Anniston Star.

WRITER FINDS MOVIE VERSION AND REAL MONTE CARLO WIDELY DIFFERENT

Comparatively few of us have ever accumulated sufficient quantities of worldly possessions, to roll down our desks, turn out the office light, pack our trunks and advise those who interrogate us, that we are off for Monte Carlo to mix and mingle with royal gamblers.

Most of us, however, at some time or another, have had Monte Carlo brought to us in the form of stirring moving picture scenes, when the adorably dumb heroine, having failed utterly in her efforts to recoup the family fortunes at the gambling tables, is forced into a loveless marriage—or worse.

Romer Croy, having seen these movie scenes enacted time and time again, had a desire to see if Monte Carlo was and is as the pictures have shown it. He was fortunate enough to be able to fulfill his ambition and to Monte Carlo he went.

Mr. Croy suffered the same loss of illusions which is the lot of blasé theatre-workers. Stage sets are not made to create scenes of splendor for those facing the auditorium, they are made for those in the auditorium.

Apparently the movie scenes of Monte Carlo were not created for those who have visited the place, for Mr. Croy found the real Monte Carlo far different from the place the movies had pictured. In the current issue of Harpers, Mr. Croy describes his findings:

"I used to love to read stories of people staking their fortune on a turn of the wheel at Monte Carlo, losing, and then shooting themselves with a pearl-handled pistol. It stirred my imagination. I could see the scene—splendid ladies and gentlemen in evening clothes; dukes, counts, earls, barons, and princes as thick as hops.

"When I arrived I could hardly wait till I got to the Casino—I wanted to see the people with the pearl-handled pistols. I entered. As I paused before the table I was shocked. Where were all the dukes, counts, earls, barons, and princes? Where were the red ribbons? I studied the people. If there was a Count there he succeeded in hiding it; and the only red ribbon I saw had a lip stick on the end of it. But the place was filled with buyers from Fort Worth, Kansas City, Chattanooga, and Hutchinson, Kansas.

"Except for the Americans, the thing that astonished me most was the number of kindly, gray-haired grandmothers playing roulette and knitting. They had grown tired of sitting around in their pensions and had come out to see life and finish up the troublesome heel.

"I began to hear about a sacred Inner Circle—the circle intime—a sort of club where only members are admitted and where ordinary players see only the thick, leather doors. Through a friend, I was able to get a card and the next evening I was in the inner chamber, in the sacred precincts. I looked around, but there was the same royal scarcity as in the main rooms. There were no more dukes than in Greenwich Village. I went over to the table, expecting to see chips stacked in heaps and hounds. But they were as far apart as the now famous mountains in Nebraska. What a disappointment—they were playing for a dollar a round.

"Some spirit of recklessness came over me and I had five dollars changed into chips and put it all down in one grand throw. It was the biggest pot on the boards; it simply staggered the other players. Even the stolid, bloodless croupiers looked at me with interest. Here, they thought, 'is a millionaire who has walked into our net.' Pretty soon the money was gone and I walked out, the most talked-of man in the room.

"But how different it is when you see a motion-picture version of Monte Carlo; hordes of people in evening clothes . . . women with ropes of pearls . . . mountains of money. . . Why, the Monte Carlo over here is just a cheap imitation. If you wish a spectacular, thrilling, absolutely satisfying Monte Carlo, stick to the motion-picture version.

"But just as I was ready to leave there was a moment of tense excitement. It came suddenly and unexpectedly. A woman who had been playing rose abruptly and stepped to one side and thrust her hand into her bag with a quick, stealthy movement. My heart jumped. I expected to see the flash of a pearl-handled pistol right there in the main gambling room, but I was mistaken. It was merely a grandmother who had forgotten her nine-o'clock pill."

BRITISH LORDS TOLD OF SLAVE TRADING IN SECTIONS OF EMPIRE

LONDON—Rather a tone of uneasiness on the question of slave raiding in several parts of the world, including a suggestion that parts of the British Empire might be affected, was displayed in the House of Lords recently when several peers made demands for facts concerning the slave trade activity.

Earl Buxton started the ball rolling by asking the government whether the report upon slavery which the foreign secretary undertook to call for in 1923 had as yet been received and also whether the League of Nations had asked to be supplied with any available information on the subject of slavery. In northern Africa and the Far East, he said, slave raiding and trading still existed, and it was known he alleged, that raids had been made in Kenya and the Sudan.

Lord Oliver asserted that there was a good deal of information on the subject of slavery in the possession of the government which the public had the right to know. The earl in this connection said conditions in Abyssinia were much as they had always been and slavery and slave raiding existed there today.

Replying for the government, Viscount Cecil explained that the government was eager to the utmost of its power to help in the suppression of slavery in general and slave raids in particular. The League of Nations had undertaken inquiries into this subject, he said, and one great advantage of the league was that it worked with the utmost publicity. That fact alone it seemed to him, ought to put an end to any suspicion that the British government desired to hide in any way anything that its officials were doing in that direction.

Viscount Cecil went on to say that the government was prepared to place all its information at the disposal of the league. His information was that there had been no slave raids in Kenya, but he would cause further inquiries to be made.

Lord Gainford maintained that from information in his possession it appeared certain that raids had been made from Abyssinia and British subjects made slaves and transported across the Red Sea and through Arabia to Mesopotamia and he could not understand why the government had no information along those lines. The subject is to be brought up again for further discussion.

BUENOS AIRES PREPARES TO HONOR ENGLISH PRINCE

BUENOS AIRES—When the Prince of Wales sees Buenos Aires by night for the first time, he may wonder whether he is a Prince of the Arabian Nights, and what geni have transformed this southern metropolis into a dazzling fairyland of light and beauty to do him honor.

Buenos Aires is famed for its extravagance in illumination and decoration to celebrate carnival and national holidays, every year outdoing what was done the year before. It staged perhaps, the most wonderful display of illumination ever seen in any city on the occasion of the visit of the Italian prince last year, and now for the visit of the scion of English royalty, it is preparing to break the record again.

Millions of multicolored electric light globes will be used. They will outline the Government house, the Capitol, all public edifices and hundreds of office buildings and institutions. The Avenida de Mayo, which is Buenos Aires' Broadway will be a gleaming bower of electric garlands and arches, placed every half block. The many parks and plazas of the city will be planted with artistic columns joined with lacelike ribbons of light, and the walks and flower beds will be outlined with lights set in the ground. Electric lights, too, will flash out the flags and coats of arms of Great Britain and Argentina placed at appropriate points, and searchlights and indirect glow lights will also be used with effect.

Mingled with all will be a profuse display of streamers and flags of both countries which will make the city gay with color during the day as well as at night. Special pains will be taken in the artistic decoration of the streets leading to the mansion where the prince will live.

Pirates Continue To Batter Way To Top; Giants Lose; Macks and Senators Victors

Pittsburgh continues battering tactics as the season is traveling by. The glorious seven game lead of the New York Giants has been cut to a mere game and a half. The haughty Giants of yesterday are the groveling Giants of today fighting against heavy odds, injury handicaps and a growing habit of losing ball tilts. The Giants dropped their fifth straight yesterday while the Pirates were capturing their sixth straight win.

Adolpho Luque, the Cuban ace, shut out the Giants at Cincinnati 1-0 allowing them but five safe blows. The Reds incidentally are but a game and half behind the Pirates while Brooklyn remains the same margin behind the Reds. From all indications the National league will have a new leader within a very few days unless something unforeseen happens to bolster the fast faltering Giants.

In the American League the Senators and Macks continue to vanquish all rivals. Washington is just a game and a half behind the Pirates while at has a great deal to do with the winning of ball games.

The Consolidated Sunday schools jolted the Ralston Independents at Malone Park yesterday afternoon in what looked like a pitchers battle until the fifth inning. Wade and Gilchrist were going well until the fifth when both teams started scoring.

A seventh inning rally put the Sunday schools in the lead while the Ralstonites were unable to aer the needed punch in their half to put matters safe.

Why Thin, Pale Girls Are Unpopular

It is a well-known fact that thin, pale or sallow, poorly-developed girls, with dark circles under the eyes, and who always appear tired and listless, do not attract friends. Yet in thousands of cases these conditions are due merely to the lack of pure, red blood, rich in health-giving iron. By simply getting sufficient iron into their blood, these girls may quickly have the blooming cheeks, tuddy lips and well-rounded forms that make other girls so attractive and so popular.

But be sure that the iron you take is organic iron—Nuxated Iron—and not the old-fashioned liquid medicines or pills made from mineral iron that often injured the teeth and disturbed the stomach. Nuxated Iron contains organic iron, like the iron in our own blood. Try it for two weeks and notice the strength you gain. Money back if not improved. At all good druggists.

COLLIER IMPROVED

Eugene Collier who left some weeks ago for the west when he was advised that a change of climate would aid his health is reported as being greatly improved. C. J. Randolph of the local Y. M. C. A. said that he had talked with Mr. Collier while on a two weeks western trip and that Mr. Collier was greatly encouraged and pleased with the institution.

AN IMPORTANT CHANGE IN POLICY

STUDEBAKER herewith announces the discontinuance of the custom of presenting a new line of automobiles each year. Instead of bringing Studebaker Cars dramatically up-to-date once in twelve months, we shall keep them up-to-date all of the time—with every improvement and refinement made available by our great engineering and manufacturing resources. This policy not only directly benefits present Studebaker owners, but it also enables purchasers of new cars to obtain models that are always modern—without the necessity of waiting for annual changes, and without the danger of their new cars becoming obsolete.

BACK of this new policy is an amazing story—of interest to everyone who owns or expects to own an automobile.

The dramatic success of the present line of Studebaker Cars is one reason for this important change. Month after month we keep breaking records—sales keep piling up. This year we will sell almost four times as many automobiles as we produced in the big boom year which followed the war.

Owners report endurance records, even beyond our greatest expectations. Out in the rugged mountain regions where Studebaker sells four times its normal proportion of cars, owners talk about these models in the most extravagant terms. In 1924 the Corporation's sale of repair parts dropped to $10 per car per year. Mechanical stamina under severe usage—remarkable performance under the most difficult travel conditions—these are the qualities for which Studebaker Cars have long been noted.

Surely, these significant facts prove beyond any shadow of doubt that Studebaker Cars are so soundly engineered and manufactured and so eminently satisfactory in the hands of owners, that drastic annual changes are not required.

Improvements and refinements will be made from time to time. New features will be added. When our engineering department (maintained at a cost of more than half a million dollars a year) devises an improvement in any model, it will be made without regard to the calendar.

As in the past, we shall continue to pioneer vital betterments that have proved their merit through practical use. Alert, aggressive, receptive to new ideas; resourceful in executing them, guided by scientific research and spurred by imagination, the Studebaker organization proposes to build better motor cars than ever before.

Now you may buy a Studebaker on any day of the year with the confident assurance that the sturdy, thrifty, one-profit car you drive away will not be stigmatized by any act of ours as a "last year's model." Today, in even more generous measure than in the past, Studebaker Cars offer the utmost value for the money.

The wedding party was led by the ushers, brothers of the bride, Herman Pappenberg and Henry Pappenberg, Jr., Mrs. Rogers Bethany the matron of honor, wore a green flat crepe with silver accessories and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses and following her was the maid of honor, Miss Louise Holtmann in rose georgette heavily beaded and her flowers were bridesmaid roses. ADVICE TO GIRLS

By ANNIE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens. Some time ago I "kept company" with a young man two years my senior. He seemed to value my friendship very much.

I went away on a trip, and on my return, several months later, his desire for my company seemed to have waned.

I realize now that I love him. Please tell me what I can do to win his love. JUST JEAN.

JUST JEAN: It may be that you were not very cordial to this young man before you realized your affection for him, Jean. Friendships are often dissolved because of a lack of warmth on the part of one of the partners to the companionship, and this may have happened in your case. I suggest that you invite this young man to call on you and be as charming and gracious toward him as you can be. Try to build up the old relationship, chat about things which both of you are interested in, and do not allude to his "neglect." These things may serve as a bond between you and awaken the young man's interest in you. Try it, anyway!

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens. I have been going out with a young man about a year. I've been told there is a girl who has come between us. But he says that is a mistake and says he cares more for me.

Please advise me what to do about this. BOBBY.

BOBBY: If this young man has told you of his fondness for you, there is no reason why you should think him insincere, my

Women Who Were Doubtful At First Are Now Convinced

Actual Results Obtained By Women Overcome Skepticism. Evidence Given Publicly Is Overwhelming For G. F. P.

"From an attitude of doubt and criticism which leaders of thought automatically heap on anything which revolutionizes the ways of doing things," says a representative of the discoverers of St. Joseph's G. F. P., "these same people, after investigating G. F. P. and seeing the wonderful things it is doing for women who had never before been able to get loose from the clutches of sickness in which their own imperfections held them, are now following the hundreds and thousands of women who are now devout believers in, and are using G. F. P. themselves.

"The fact that these thousands are now using and praising G. F. P.," he continued, "is the most convincing proof of the correctness of our theory that catarrh of the generative organs has for years made virtual slaves of its victims, for the simple reason that until G. F. P. was perfected, these thousands of nervous irritable despondent and suffering women never were able to get any lasting relief.

"Don't make the mistake of thinking though that you can get over your trouble simply by taking G. F. P. a few days, then expect to be as well and strong as you was when a girl. It took a long continuation of exposure, excesses and abuses to make weaklings of your strong robust organs; and even with the aid of G. F. P., time is necessary to help nature restore that vitality which has been sapped away no doubt for years. Catarrh gets a firm hold on the delicate mucous linings of the organs, and though G. F. P. will stamp out this demon, you must use it faithfully. Even an automobile will not keep running unless you keep putting gasoline in the tank and oil in the motor. The human system is much like a machine in this respect, although a delicate and precious one to be sure."

YOUR HEALTH

Hints On How to Live for a Full Hundred Years

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

PERSONS past fifty years of age should not overlook the importance of submitting to periodical examination of the urine. "A stitch in time saves nine," and the early discovery of kidney trouble will permit treatment to overcome it.

So often have I told you "the way to cure disease is to avoid it" that I suppose you get sick and tired of my preaching. I will forgive me, however, when you recall that I am trying to make you live to be a hundred.

Isn't it funny how people differ on whether they want to live to be old or not? Next time you have occasion to speak to a group of little boys or girls, ask for a show of hands on living to be a hundred. Not one hand will be raised.

Ask the same question of a group of men and women past sixty. Every single person will vote yes.

The longer we live, the longer we want to live. The last of June an uncle of mine will be a hundred years old. He has been looking forward to this event like a boy waiting for Christmas. So have all the rest of the family. I may add.

Well, if you really want to live to be a hundred you must take care of your health. You must not wait for the ugly symptoms of disease to gnaw at your vitals. You must anticipate events and seek by early attention to circumvent serious illness.

To this end, periodical examination of the urine are tremendously important. Conditions found will guide your doctor in medication and advice.

It is not normal to have blood in the urine. It is an important symptom. It is not a disease—it is merely one of the signs of various conditions which require attention.

There may be a lot of blood actually coloring the urine, or there may be but the slightest tinge. It may make the urine smoky or there may be a deep red color. There may be clots of blood. It may be present all the time or only on occasions.

In inflammation of the kidney there may be marked congestion and occasional bleeding. Following a hard blow across the back, there may be blood in the urine. This is due to a broken blood vessel of course.

The blood may not come from the kidneys at all. It may be due to the trouble in the tube leading from the kidney to the bladder. It may be in the bladder or the passageway to the exterior from the bladder may have a damaged surface.

If changes in the urine, such as I have described, are noticed, it is your duty to take a sample to the doctor at once. By making certain tests he will decide if blood is really present, and if it is, from what part of the urinary system it comes. By chemical, physical, X-ray and microscopic means he will decide what is wrong with you.

As in all troubles where bleeding is a symptom, quiet is important. Go to bed and keep still till your doctor passes judgment. He will give you the correct treatment to put you on your feet.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medicine, hygiene and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it cannot be published in this column, the doctor will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally in a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the address: Dr. R. S. Copeland, 1201 Broadway, New York City.

AMUSEMENTS

As radically as a covered wagon differs from an automobile, so a mid-western town of 1876 differs from one of the present day.

No section of the entire world has changed so much in the past fifty years as have the towns of Kansas, Missouri, Colorado, Montana and Wyoming, as motion picture directors have discovered to their cost when endeavoring to recreate for the films some vanished centre. The sleepy freighting posts of the old west are today bustling cities.

For the production of Zane Grey's "The Thundering Herd," which William K. Howard directed for Paramount, an exact replica of an old-time trading post was built. Potheaters declared it was correct in every detail, according to their memories of old towns such as Fort Worth Village, Dodge City and Salt Lake City.

The post constructed for the picture was of the stockade type, with logs ten feet in height, stuck in the ground and bound together to form a square enclosure. One side of this square, fronting the roadway, was formed by the post building, a log structure like the stockade. This had a sort of platform outside with steps leading down to the street and a door and window into the store.

In the photoplay, the town is just starting to boom, as great numbers of hunters rush to the buffalo fields. Half a dozen buildings have sprung up about the post. These buildings are occupied by dance halls and saloons.

The picture realistically portrays the adventure of two of the many caravans that started for the far west. An exciting Indian battle and a thrilling buffalo stampede are among the many dynamic scenes in his photoplay.

Naturally, the characterizations in story of this kind are of prime importance, and Director Howard realized that when he was assembling his cast. Film fans are certain to approve his choice of such capable players as Jack Holt, Lois Wilson, Noah Beery and Raymond Hatton.

ENGLAND'S AIR CHIEF
OF AERIAL WARFARE

CAMBRIDGE—The assertion by Air Marshal Sir Hugh Trenchard, chief of the British air staff, that he would do away with aviation altogether if he could has caused no end of comment throughout the country. Sir Hugh was speaking to the Cambridge University Aeronautical Society, and his contention was that all the good done through aviation commercially would not make up for the reign of terror and death which would be accomplished through this force if there should be another world war, when great bombs and poisonous gases would be strewn upon almost helpless cities.

Sir Hugh reviewed the problem of the air defense of the British empire and its potentialities during the next 10 years, speaking very frankly and plainly indeed upon the main principles which must guide the nation in its fight and economical use of aviation.

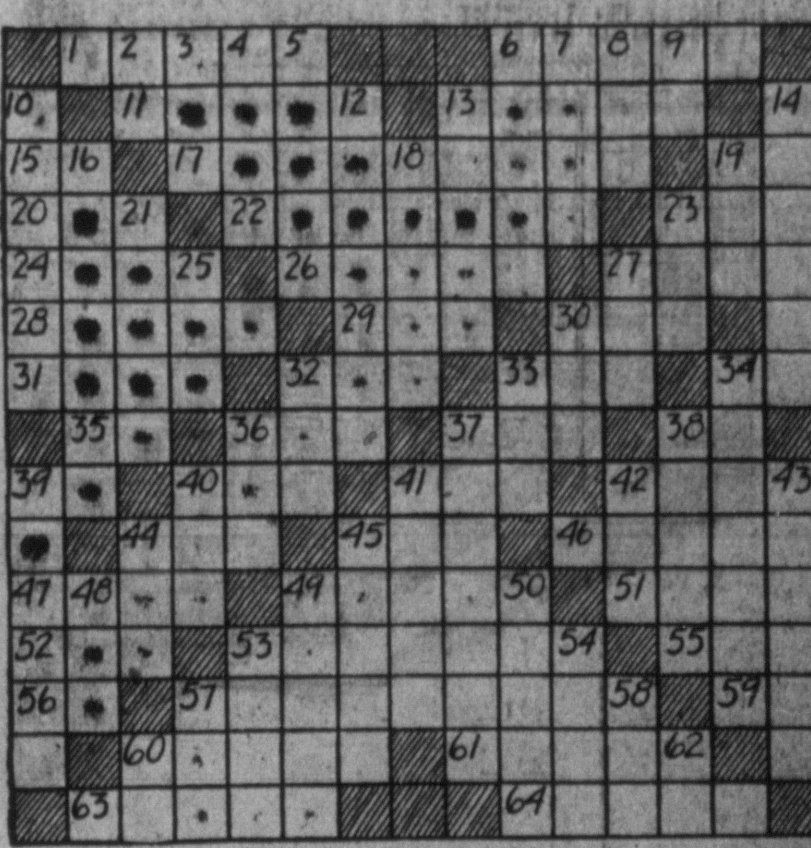

"I do not want you to think that I look upon the air as a blessing altogether," asserted Sir Hugh. Continuing he said, much to the astonishment of his listeners: "It may be more of a blessing for this empire than for any other country in the world, but I feel that all the good it will do in civil life cannot balance the harm that may be done in war by it, and if I had the casting vote I would say abolish the air."

This particular phrase of the air chief's remarks caused more newspaper comment than has any utterance of an official of his standing in years. Relative to a European war in which England might be seriously attacked, he said: "The great problem is to be faced is that in the first clash of the opposing forces the casualties would be very high, and the question of replacing the reserves would be difficult. In fact they would be almost unobtainable, not only for this nation but also for any other nation."

In the next war in a single day the speaker said he believed, more bombs could be dropped in this country than was done in the four years of the last great conflict. While the airplane was the most offensive weapon that had ever been invented, Sir Hugh averred, it was a shockingly bad weapon of defense against the airplane itself. Still he believed, it was the only one that had yet been discovered, and even in these days of scientific improvements and inventions, he had grave doubts whether any other weapon would take its place for another 100 years.

"Remember that nothing you can do or say will stop all the benefits of aviation, or all the horrors of it. I am sure that the empire is in the forefront of the nations of the world in the air."

The Royal Air Force would not be made the great weapon it must be without the backing of the nation, said the air chief, and he was convinced that one of the most important means was through the larger seats of learning. For that reason the government was eager to start at Oxford and Cambridge air force units as a beginning, and the officials hoped to do the same at other universities at a later date.

Alabama Power Company wins Forbes Public Service Cup

In recognition of an outstanding record of public service during 1924, judges have awarded the Forbes Public Service Cup to the Alabama Power Company.

In competition with Electric Light and Power Companies in all parts of the country, the winning company receives first prize for the most constructive public service in local territory during the past year.

The Alabama Power Company, through its remarkable achievements, has done far more to make Alabama an attractive place to live in than any other single agency—and is actively seeking additional ways of rendering service. It has made a marked contribution to the progress of the state, and to the entire electric industry.

It is so easy to get service from the public utility companies that we are prone to expect it as a matter of course. They are for the most part unseen, and unheard. Unfortunately they are felt only if their service fails. Yet no city, no industrial center, could continue to function if deprived of this service for any length of time.

The luxuries and comforts which we have come to consider as everyday necessities are made possible because of the high standard of efficiency and service developed by these public service companies. Inside facts reveal oftentimes a story of vision and cooperative achievement little realized by the average person who receives the benefit.

So it is with the Alabama Power Company. Its program of square dealing, education, and improvements for the home and for industry may well be an example to corporations in any field.

Forbes Magazine believes in encouraging and giving added recognition to this sort of enterprise and achievement.

Key Men in All Industries Read Forbes

The award of the Forbes Cup for constructive public service, as described above, is but one step in the well rounded program of Forbes Magazine to stimulate industrial progress and profit.

Every issue of Forbes is filled with news and comment of timely interest to business men and investors. Forbes is closely read by the key men in all industries—those who sit "in the high places." They look to Forbes habitually for information and guidance.

Every progressive business man in Alabama should read Forbes. Its digest of corporation news—its section devoted to new moves in business—its editorial comment on current questions—articles by outstanding personalities—news of public utilities—opportunities for investors—new industrial methods—Wall Street pointers—these and other editorial features appear in every issue.

Forbes has proved a gold mine of profit-making ideas to hundreds in business, as shown by their enthusiastic testimonials. It has revealed sound opportunities for investing surplus funds. It is a stimulant to young business men who seek a broader grasp of business and finance. It develops personal efficiency. Thus today, for obvious reasons, Forbes is acknowledged to be the leading publication for executives—in whatever branch of industry.

Further progress of the state of Alabama rests with her individual industries and men—their knowledge of the inside facts of progress—and their enterprise. Reading Forbes is just the necessary stimulant needed. If you are not now a regular reader of Forbes, by all means sign the convenient coupon on this page.

Some of the achievements of the Alabama Power Company

Below are listed a few of the many activities of the Alabama Power Company during 1924—in its remarkable campaign of public service—a program of achievement which stamped it as the logical winner of the Forbes Cup:—

Improving rural life and methods

Extended electric power service to even the more isolated rural communities in various sections of the state. Developed new methods and equipment to reduce labor and costs on the farm and assisted in putting them into effect.

Fighting the deadly boll weevil

Made possible the economical production of calcium arsenate for the cotton producers by superior electrolytic process, just when the principal farm crop of the state was threatened.

Stockholders in every county of the state

Built up good will and co-operation of public through its standard of service. Extended customer-ownership until now 12,000 residents of Alabama own the Company's securities.

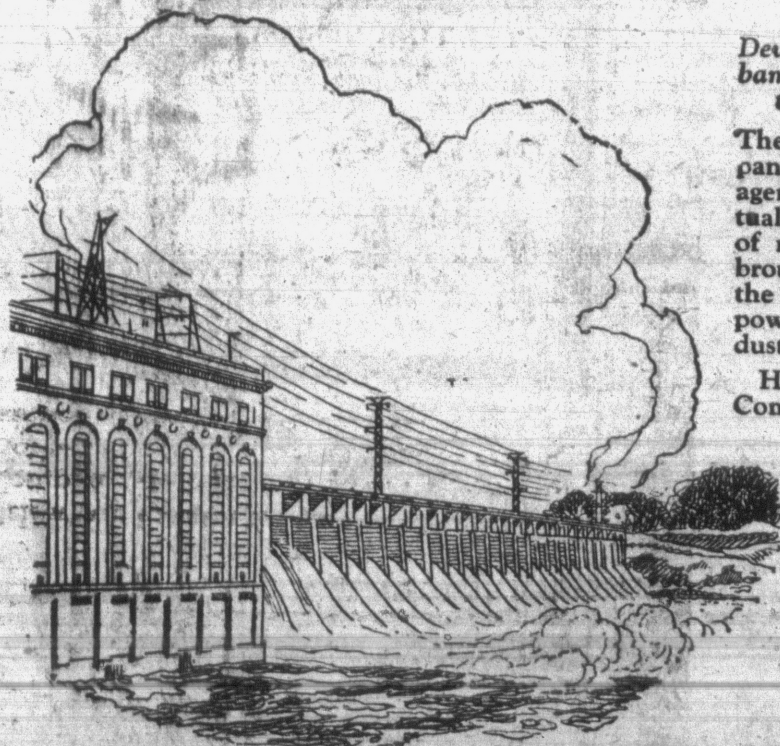

Model Electric Homes

Developed home lighting and power appliances of superior quality. Co-operation with civic and educational institutions to satisfy needs and desires of the people.

12 Years' Growth

Benefits of electric power and lighting extended to the masses—and to whole communities—until today the Company is serving more than 120,000 customers and 120 communities—distributed over 30,000 square miles of territory.

Developing and utilizing Alabama's natural resources for the benefit of the masses

The Alabama Power Company is the greatest developing agency in the whole state, actually seeking additional ways of rendering service. It has brought outside capital into the state to develop water power and attracted added industrial corporations.
